Reds Admit Ordering Soldiers To Enter Foreign Territory—Explanation

ARMIES RUSHED TO DANGER ZONE

Chances of Conference to Settle Dispute Grow Less and Situation Becomes Critical.

Extensive troops movements to and Russia on the Manchurian border and severe fighting at two points on the border tonight brought the two countries farther than ever from a position for amicable settlement of he conflict which threatens momentarily to become more grave.

An extended bombardment of Suifenho, near Pogranichnaya, on the eastern border of Manchuria, followed soviet raids near Dalainor on the western border, where 50 have been killed in the last few days.

Simultaneously the soviet government admitted at Moscow that Russian soldiers had entered Manchurian territory, but merely for the purpose 'of pursuing Chinese attackers." The Chinese government officially announced that troops were moving to the frontier-although it was stated that war will result-and some sources at Shaughai estimated that there would be probably 150,000 troops available in Manchuria if mobilization is carried out.

The soviet sent two more warning notes to China-one to Nanking and one to Mukden-saying that alleged attacks on soviet forces must cease or China must accept "responsibility for further complications."

Meanwhile there appeared to be lite chance for negotiations to settle the dispute over control of the Chinese Eastern railway to get started.

China has firmly refused the Russian demand that ousted soviet offcials of the road be re-instated as a preliminary and the war-like developments of the last few days have made the possibilities of a conference even more remote.

Some of the opponents of the paper held that immediate repeal of the paper should be sought, declaring that an election would be dangerous, disorganizing and disrupting, while others contanded that the best method was to go through the referendum and beat it by such a large majority that it would not be offered again.

Declaring that the measure creating greater Atlanta was passed by the Georgia legislature in one day less time then the merger proposal, Miss Bessie Kempton. Fulton county representative in the Georgia assembly, defended the bill as democratic and right.

right to determine for themselves whether they wish to come into the county system is similar in principle to the general law providing for merger under which mergers have been accomplished in many counties of the state, and is similar in principle to the law which permitted Hapeville, College Park and East Point to merge with this county.

"The law provides that if the city system votes to merge with the county system, then the city of Atlanta must appropriate to the county board of education for the operation of the schools the same per cent of gross revenue appropriated to the city board for educational purposes. At the present time the city council furnishes to the school children of the city of Atlanta free textbooks by special appropriation and under the merger act the same appropriation is mandatory upon the city to the county.

"The present session of the general assembly has passed a law for the county board of education to create a county board of education to create a teachers' retirement fund and also to authorize the county board of education to carry group insurance on all its teachers and employes.

"It is generally recognized by educators, including the various colleges of the state, that the Fulton county school system is one of the most progressive school systems in the state. Its high schools are accredited and gressive school systems in the state. Its high schools are accredited and stand as high as any high school in the entire state. No teacher, employe or patron of the city system need have any fear as to the continuance of the present policy of the county board of education. The teachers, employes and patrons of the Atlanta system will receive at the hands of the county board the same fair and generous treatment which this same board of education has accorded and is according to the similar independent municipal systems operated by College Park and East Point.

Produce Place Will Be Widened and New Driveway Will Be Cut Through From Hunter.

Constituting one of the most important improvement developments in the downfown commercial area adjoining the viaduct section, the series of additions and alterations under way on Produce Row are contemplated to establish Atlanta's produce cutent as one of the most modern and largest in the south, it was stated Monday by J. L. McCord, president of the Atlanta Produce Club, and W. N. Hicks, ceneral agent. of the Atlanta Joint Terminals.

"To meet the constantly growing demands made of them, in 1912 the produce merchants of Atlanta got together with representatives of the Atlanta Joint Terminals, whose tenant lines agreed to construct the present Produce building located on Central avenue between Alabama and Hunter streets. The erection of this building avenue between Alabama and Hunter streets. The erection of this building provided a centrally located produce district where carload shipments could be unloaded directly into the stores, and where the merchants could display their goods in a proper manner for inspection by the retail trade. These facilities also provided for the loading of their delivery trucks much more conveniently and speedily than had previously been the case. With the occupancy of this building by its principal produce merchants Atlanta fast became a real produce market. According to government statistics Atlanta now handles 5,000 cars of produce annually. Moving at one time this would constitute a solid train of produce 165 miles long, requiring the power of 150 locomotives."

Blair Atholl. Perthshire. Scotland. August 19.—(A)—General Charles G. Dawes on arriving here late tonight told newspapermen that he had no statement to make regarding his talk today at Lossiemouth with Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald.

It was assumed that the purpose of their meeting was to continue their conversations on ways and means of naval disarmament by the powers. Arriving from London on the night train, the American ambassador was met at the station by the premier who escorted General Dawes to his home. "The Hillocks."

In the early afternoon the ambassador left by automobile for the nearby village of Foares where he is visiting a friend, John Harris, of New York.

The immediate plans of the ambassador were not disclosed but it was expected that he would attend the coremonies in Elgin on Friday when the prime minister is to receive the freedom of that city. It was thought quite likely that there might be a further exchange of naval views at that time.

In proposing elimination of the house increase of three cents a pound on raw wool, the committee also readjusted downward all the woolen manufactures duties, except a few, such as wool wastes, which were given substantial increases.

A change in the new rayon schedule proposed by the house would make its title read, "manufactures of rayon or other synthetic textile," this was regarded as a concession to manufacturers of certain articles similar to rayon but which have different trade names, who wished to preserve the distinction from rayon.

The committee approved restoration of the present rates, which the house increased, on photographic paper and wallpaper.

on Monday Postmaster E. K. Large received a letter from the Union soldier asking help in locating the Confederate youth. W. D. Christman, of Glouster. Ohio, the Union soldier, declared "It would do my soul good to hear from that boy."

Mr. Christman wrote Mr. Large that he understood the Confederate soldier is now living in Atlanta. The boy in gray was a drummer at the Battle of Atlanta on July 22, 1864, and was shot in both legs.

"As well as I remember, there came a lull in the battle," the Union veteran said. "I heard him cry out. "Soldier, won't you give me a drink?" I asked my captain if I could fall out of ranks and give that little redel drummer boy a drink. He said 'Yes, but be quick about it.' The boy lay a little ways from where our regiment was in line of battle. I took a tin can off his haversack holding about a quart and filled it full of water out of my own canteen and held it to his mouth and he drank it all."

The Confederate soldier could not have been over 15 years of age, Mr. Christman said. "I was only a boy myself, only 18 at that time. "The governor, under the constitution, has no authority or power to provide revenue, and is dependent altogether upon the general assembly.

"The administrative department is called upon and authorized to dispose of and handle the revenue provided by the general assembly, as directed by the law.

The deficit, as presented by the state auditor, will, on the 31st day of December, 1929, be $4.266,000. The revenue under our present law, as stated by the state auditor, which is available for check and not allocated, is $9,500,000. The appropriation as made is $12.250,000. It is, therefore, clearly to be seen that additional revenue must be provided, and the governor commends the activity of the general assembly in studying and arranging to take care of the deficit, and to provide for her institutions.

"The governor of this state feels that we are not putting too much into our institutions; also that we are not making provision for their needs, and I urge upon you the remainder of the six days to make provision for revenue that will put Georgia and her institutions on a substantial and progressive basis.

at a constantly increasing clip in quest of her lost speed laurels.

From noon Saturday to noon Sunday she logged 630 miles, breaking her previous record by four miles and from noon yesterday to noon today she logged 634 miles at an average speed of 27.56 knots.

Since leaving New York at 12:01 Friday morning her skipper, S. G. S. McNeil, wirelessed the line's office here she had put 2,118 miles behind her at noon (ship's time) today at an average speed of 27.14 knots.

Although not claiming a record crossing, Captain McNeil wirelessed his office that he expected to reach Plymouth breakwater several hours under his own ship's record of four days 19 hours and 55 minutes.

The fastest eastward crossing ever made was that completed by the North German Lloyd liner Bremen July 31 of four days 14 hours and 30 minutes. The Bremen also holds the record for the westward crossing, four days 17 hours and 42 minutes—which she took from the Mauretania.

Will a Bank Employ a Teller Who Is a Tool of Gangsters? -By Robert Quillen-

All men who write for the public prints get occasional letters from uspicious people who charge them with writing propaganda for hire. The letter writers invariably are ill-bred and ignorant.

Their ill breeding is evidenced by their willingness to insult, at long ge, one whose sole offense is that he does not eche their opinions. They exercise their own right to hold and advocate opinions, and would be quick to resent any doubt of their sincerity; but while millions equally sincere hold contrary opinions, they think the writer who disagrees with them must be the hired agent of corruption.

NIPPON AND AMERICA

The Constitution was requested by the Carnegie Foundation for International Peace to select a member of its staff to join representatives of ten other American newspapers to take a trip to Japan and China for the purpose of studying conditions with a view of bringing about closer relations between these countries and the United States.

Francis W. Clarke, managing editor, was assigned to make the trip for The Constitution, and today this paper publishes the twentysixth of a series of articles from Mr. Clarke, who landed in San Francisco last Friday and will be at his desk at The Constitution again within a few days. His letter, which follows, was written from San Francisco.

Five Fundamentals Needed | CHARITIES BENEFIT In Fair Tax Plan, Key Says

Five fundamental principles of taxa-on are needed in a fair and equitable ax system, according to Representation are needed in a fair and equitable tive W. H. Key, of Jasper, author of the Key gross income tax bill passed by the house, which will come up for discussion in the senate today. The five fundamentals are poll tax; a graduated license of occupational tax; a general sales tax; a graduated income tax and a small ad valorem property tax, according to Representative Key.

"The first cardinal principle of a broad and fair, enforcible and satisfactory plan of taxation therefore is:

"(1). A moderate poll tax, assessed and enforced as to collection—it being the smallest share in government possible to sell to any man, and which every man should be compelled to buy.

"Ind. iduals differ in talent, energy and ability to trade on the necessities or weakness of others. They select businesses" usually the one out of which it is thought that the most money can be made from a given effort. at the Metcalf Clothing and Hat Stores on Forsyth Street.

I sold more than ten thousand straw hats this season just like 'em. Many of my friends has bought two or three of 'em this summer at the well-known Metcalf price, one-ninety-nine. Every-body knows Metcalf sells $3.50 hats for $1.99. But I got sense enough to know it's too late to get even half price for 'em now. So I say, take your pick of these 2,400 hats now for ninety-nine cents. When you see 'em you'll buy two of 'em to "carry-over," 'cause you know very well your ole home town merchant will charge you $3.50 next spring for a nice straw hat.

Even my wife's fussin' 'bout me buyin' this last carload of straw hats 'cause it's late in the season, but you know, folks. Just "'tween us girls," I only paid this poor devil nine dollars a dozen for 'em and when he accepted my offer I was plum flabbergasted 'cause I know "HE LOST HIS PANTS."

Every hat is perfect, styles are good, beautiful silk bands as well as plenty of black grosgrain silk bands which are so popular this year with the middle-aged man. Oh, yes, I'm obliged to charge you a penny for the bag and you won't kick when you see the hats for 99c.

If you can spare the Jack you can get any fifteen dollar summer suit at Metcalf's now for $7.77. We can fit the tall and slim, the stout and fat man for $7.77. I jist ain't goin' to carry any summer suits over.

Mnoday was spent in pounding in fundamentals. Pitchers were taught how to stand on the rubber, easy, correct throwing methods. on a business trip. Birch's first appearance in Atlanta was recalled at a fanning party in which Coach W. A. Alexander, Al Doonan and others participated.

Birch made his debut here in 1921 when Coach Foster Sanford, the eccentric professor of gridiron art at Rutgers, brought his team here for an early intersectional game. The stands were packed and the coffers were filled.

Sanford approached Birch before the game and complained of the legality of Tech's jump shift. Birch advised him to wait until the game started and if it proved illegal penalties would be assessed. The lad got a piece of the ball and to wait until the game started and if it proved illegal penalties

> Fans remember how the game started and Rutgers drew a penalty for roughness. Sanford rushed out on the field and Referee Birch called another penalty on the red-shirted team. Sanford ordered his team to leave the field and they retired to the sidelines. Birch drew his watch and studied it carefully. Coach Sanford was beside himself with anger.

Finally Birch walked over to Coach Sanford, who was standing with his excited players.

"There are just 10 seconds between you and $10,000," Birch advised him.

Coach Sanford hesitated and then waved his team to the field again. And the vast crowd was not deprived of the game as they might have been through the headstrong action of the visiting coach. That little remark from Birch was potent.

OPENS UP.

Lomski opened up with all his guns in the first round and had Walker completely baffled and at his mercy. Walker rushed out to take the offensive in the second round and won this session by as wide a margin as the westerner took the opening one. The third was even, with things pretty quiet. The middle-weight king carried the fourth round with a ceaseless, never-wavering attack that had Lomski wobbly at the close. Swinging back to the offensive, Lomski reached the high point of his fight with a thrilling charge in the fifth round which all but floored Mickey. It was a badly battered, weary Walker that went to his corner after the fifth round. By weathering that storfh Walker apparently took the heart out of Lomski and went on to win.

Lomski weighed 172 3-4; Walker

19.—It took Washington and the grandeur of its tradition to subdue the Inman Park Cardinals, those irrepressibles of the ffered them.

They left their hotel this morning and were driven over the city, coming at last to the tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

DIFFERENT STORY.

The nation, perhaps, is used to stories of the tomb of the Unknown Soldier. The nation perhaps has come to look at the monotony of those tories of notables who come to place a wreath on the tomb. Put in type that has come to be an old, old story to be stuck in some corner as a filler.

Face to face with the tomb it is something to bring a stinging to the eyes. One may come to this tomb with a feeling that the ceremony is obvious. That feeling vanishes as the great amphithealer of marble comes into view.

Towering near is the great height of the Washington monument. That grips the eye, startles the imagination. Hehind the amphitheater and overlooking the Potomac lies the tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

hind the amphitheater and overlooking the Potomac lies the tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

BOYS PAUSE.

Thousands of tourists come every day; hundreds of wreaths have been placed on it, blatant and tear-jerking stories have been written about it but once there, with the Potomac murmuring below and the guard standing by this symbol of the nation's sacrifice, nothing is monotonous about it, nothing is monotonous about it, nothing blatant, nothing ordinary. Rather there is something obvious.

And so when the Inman Park Cardinals, kids just 16 years old and under, came to place their wreath there, they pause to take it all in. They stood there in their sweaters and their baseball caps—aurely the strangest group that ever gathered to do honor to the nation's dead—and there was not a face that was not solems; there was no pair of eyes that did not reflect something those eyes had never reflected before. For the first time the realities of their nation, this thing called the United States of America, the their nation, this thing called the United States of America, the United States of America, the thing their fathers pay taxes to, had come to be something real.

They heard the story of the Un-known Soldier; of how the body was selected from those who had fallen in France and whose identity was unknown. They heard how that body was brought back on a great battleship and landed at Washington with military honors. They heard how Wilson

This trip has been the greatest thing in the lives of these boys. They all say so. The American Legion, when it called this baseball program an Americanization program knew what it was falking about.

Davidson, N. C., August 19.—A slight semblance of optimism was prevalent at Davidson last February and March, during the spring football training, and even Ccach Monk Younger, the erstwhile dispeaser of gloom and pessimism, made the admission that the Wildcats would have more reserve strength in 1929 than the preceding year. At least, it was generally conceded that the Presbyterians would have greater manpower, though inexperienced, and that the season's possibilities would be an unsured to School.

as the summer has progressed, and this student and that student has withdrawn, there seems to be no recourse than to lapse into the attitude presented at the beginning of last football season, which was well justified by the results. This statement is made from stark facts, and without consultation with Monk Younger or Tex Tilson.

Two line and two backfield lettermen—a sum total of four, according to the prescribed ways of addition—will report for early practice. Brohard and Fraley in the backfield, and DeCamp and Brock on the forward wall are the quartet. # Hull and Goodrich in Return Meeting at Auditorium Tonight

Bout Scheduled To Go 12 Rounds

Both Battlers Confident of Victory After Draw in Previous Battle-Scott To Referee.

Clyde Hull, big leather and resin man from Texas, will attempt to erase Ted Goodrich, Atlanta welterweight, in a 12-round return bout the city auditorium on a card of 40 rounds arranged by Eddie Hanlon. The fight will go 12 rounds barring a knockout and if a decision has not been reached at the end of the scheduled distance the boys will battle three more rounds to decide the issue. It is a grudge fight, a return bout after the two boys fought to a draw recently. Hull believes he can whip Goodrich and Goodrich thinks the same about Hull.

Football's Advance Guard.

Any citizen of the United States, football coach or otherwise, who desires to increase his football learning can be accommodated at Dalias, Texas, for the next two or three weeks.

Southern Methodist University, at Dallas, is now the headquarters of the Warner-Rockne Coaching School, where Ray Morrison, of S. M. U., will be a valuable aid. Coaches from more than thirty teams have re-Pop Warner and Knute Rockne may not know all the football in the world, but they know their stuff. Each one is a coaching genius, and it is doubtful if any two men have contributed more, especially to the attacking side. Pop Warner, the Stanford wizard, probably has devised more effective formations than any two coaches in the country. If this is putting it too stoutly, he is still in the lead. Knute Rockne has been the most successful ten-year coach in the game, when you consider his record and his schedule. If any one wishes to challenge this statement the vital statistics will be appreciated. Ray Morrison, the old Vanderbilt quarterback, has had a great record at S. M. U., and he can challenge Rockne when it comes to developing the passing game. The Army found that out last October, when his S. team threw the ball all around the lot and came within a point of tying the Army on its own battlefield. These coaching schools of the Warner-Rockne variety are great things in the way of spreading high-class football instruction. As a result smart and up-to-date football is no longer a monopoly for one section, or smart and up-to-date football is no longer a monopoly for one section, or for any section. They know football foday through some 8,000,000 square miles of U. S. territory, where within a few weeks the autumn frenzy will break out in all its annual fury, and the football writer who overlooks a single star out of the several thousand in action will be told where he can jump off, after taking a running start.

Old Cy's Record.

"You overlooked one detail of old Cy Young's pitching record," writes Oldtimer. "Walter Johnson won 416 games in the American league, and Grover Alexander 374 games in the National league. But old Cy won 511 games in both leagues. He pitched against the pick of the bunch in the two major league circuits. He had to step against such batters as Delehanty, Keeler, Wagner, etc., in the National league, and later on against such hitters as Cobb, Lajoie, etc., in the American. I am not on against such hitters as Cobb, Lajoie, etc., in the American. I am not taking anything away from Johnson and Alexander. They were among the two greatest that ever lived. But Cy can go along today hitting his drives down the middle and sinking his three-foot putts without bothering about any pursuer in either league. They can't find one man today who can win even thirty games a year, and not more than one or two who will reach twenty-five."

The Heavyweight Tangle.

One trouble with the heavyweight situation as it stands today is that five or six of the leaders are about even, and by the time they begin to get unscrambled there should be two or three other youngsters coming on. In this list George Godfrey occupies a peculiar situation. He probably could take any of the bunch now in action—or inaction—but for the most part, he has been a rather dull, uninteresting fighter to watch. There is a general feeling among boxing promoters that if he ever won the title the slump in receipts would be something of an avalanche, and professional boxing is as much a business as stocks and bonds, or real estate and millinery. Still, it will be interesting to see how long civiliza-tion will last without having a crown wearer officially established on the now vacated and somewhat moth-eaten throne.

Today's Golf Angle.

R. L. asks whether it is better to play a chip shot with the ball off the left foot or the right foot.

The easier and the surer way is to play the ball back nearer the right foot. This helps to keep the flight of the ball on a lower trajectory, and there is much less chance that one will fluff or spoil the stroke. Two of the greatest of all chip shot players, Jerry Travers and Bobby Jones, both keep the ball on a line off the right heel. When Travers was playing in championships Alex Smith had a standing bet that Jerry could get down in 2 more consistently from off the green five or fifty yards away than any golfer in the game. There is less chance for error in playing the ball farther back. If the ball has to be got up quickly fog a pitch across a trap, its position should then be on a line off the front foot or no farther back than a position between the two feet.

COACH M'GUGIN FACES PROBLEM WITH TACKLES

Hawkins and Kelly Lost This Year-Shoes Hard To Fill.

By Eddie Brietz,

Associated Press Sports Writer. Nashville, Tenn., August 19. Gugin, head coach of the Van- Barons, may have offered the explanation for that. derbilt Commodores.

Two weeks ago McGugin was telling his friends that if he could find somebody to play quarterback and somebody else to do the punting and passing he thought he could stagger through the football season about as well as any coach with no line to speak of and a lot of sophomores scampering about in the backfield.

S.O.S. SENT OUT,

Now an SOS has gone out for a couple of huskies to fill the shoes of Hawkins and Kelly, two estimable tackles, who have met the faculty with the usual unfortunate results.

Back in 1926, while headmaster McGugin was away on a scout-Two weeks ago McGugin was McGugin was away on a scout-ing expedition, somebody thoughtlessly inserted Kelly and Hawkins, then up and coming sophomores, into the Vanderbilt-Southwestern Game as substitutes.

Both men are back for an additional year's work, but the belated discov-ery that they played two or three minutes as sophomores automatically disqualified them for further service with the Commodore Varsity Loss of Hawkins and Kelly leaves both tackle berths wide open, the Vanderbilt line problem even more acute and the sufferings of the ven-erable McGugin both real and intense.

Another southern conference mentor who is threatening to groan himself into an early grave, is Gus Tebell, the usually snappy head coach at North Carolina State.

Last May he mournfully watched 11 of his 18 letter men exchange pigskins for sheepskins and now he finds that two of his remaining big shots probably won't be on deck when practice starts next month.

Philip H. Alston, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and designed to hear both sides of the matter, did not meet as scheduled at 12:30 o'clock Monday in the Chamber of Commerce building. Henderson Hallman, chairman, announced that his group would assemble at 4 o'clock this afternoon. This delay was due, in part, Mr. Hallman said, to a desire on the part of his committeemen to find what the sentiment of the guard officers would be. They failed to learn anything definite from the regiment, however, when the officers in session Monday night decided to defer taking a vote on the matter until next Monday night. When notified that the officers had taken no action Mr. Hallman said that the committee would not change its plans for a meeting this afternoon.

Officers Club Hop.

Wednesday evening the reserve officers on duty at the post will entertain at a hop at the Army Service Club at the garrison in honor of the regular army officers of the post personnel. The guests will be received by the ranking officers of the reserve units and the post. Dancing will be enjoyed from 9:30 to 12 o'clock. The same evening a number of informal dinners will be given by members of the military contingent.

Thursday evening Colonel and Mrs. Henry Ashley Ripley will be hosts at a dinner at the Druid Hills Golf Club in honor of Major General and Mrs.

The polo game played at the garri-son Sunday afternoon, August 18, between the corps area team and the Monday evening the reserve officers on duty at the garrison entertained at a perfectly planned dinner in special compliment to General Davis. Covers were placed in the dining hall of the chateau for 300 guests, including the pactre officers of the post. General Davis was presented a beautiful 150th Thomas clock by the reserve officers in token of their esteem for the efficient corps area commander.

Tuesday evening Miss Dorothy Tebetts will be hostess at a bridge party in compliment to Captain and Mrs. Gilbert Procter. The guests will include a number of especial friends of the honor guests.

Detween the corps area team and the post team was replete with thrills for the several hundred spectators who lined the polo field. Mrs. Gilbert Procter, better known as Joan Procter, was in the lineup for the corps area team and the evoked the applause of the gallery. As one onlooker had it when the play brought the riders to the side lines, with victory falling to the corps area team with a score of 6-4. A regrettable occurrance was the injury sustained by Major Gustav H. Franke, crack rider and player of the corps area team.

KID RUNS AWAY AGAN, YOU BIG LUM-

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

It was a lively little dog that had come to visit Bowser the Hound. He was a lost little dog. Hie was from the city. It was just by chance he had wandered out there to Farmer Brown's. Everything was new and strange to him. He couldn't sit still long. He just had to go poking his little black nose into everything. He had seen Old Mr. Toad hop out from under the doorstep. He had never seen a Toad before. Right away he rushed over to the doorstep. Old Mr. Toad simply hopped back out of sight. The little dog sniffed and sniffed and barked and was excited as if there really had been something to get excited about. Bowser couldn't understand it. You see, he had known Old Mr. Toad ever since he could remember. come to visit Bowser the Hound. He

TWENTY-SIXTH INSTALLMENT,
Old Mr. Tansy lived with his granddaughter and her husband in a decaying farmhouse just off the turnpike—a tobacco-chewing old gentlemen of great age, but, it seemed to Richard, not older than when he had been a boy larking about the countryside.
Grandma Tansy, now at rest, had been generous with cookies and doughnuts in those pleasanter, drowsier days when farms were farms and the roads were for the use of horses. A spot of gracious memories! Now and again Richard would stop to chat with the old man, whose still keen gray cyes scrutinized his face inquisitively.
"You hain't mentioned your name,
"You hain't mentioned your name,"
"The girl on the switchboard told me it was Mortimer Blade."
"Yes."
"Then he came for her, and she went away with him in a taxi."
"And that's all?"
"That's—all . . Oh, I suppose it's her own affair. But that Blade man!
And something was worrying her for weeks, too . I feel as if it was my fault . . She's—she's disappeared."

The Fates spin and spread diverse threads: each may appear distinct from all the others and individual.

ngain Richard would stop to chat with the old man, whose still keen gray cyes scrutinized his face inquisitively.

"You hain't mentioned your name, young feller," the old man said. (It was the night when Mr. Tajima waited in the Bundys' coal cellar.) "But you got a familiar look about you. I been tryin' to put a name to it... You hain't Dickie Blade, be you?"

"Yes, Mr. Tansy."

"I swan to man. Ma often spoke of ye, so she done. . . I heard tell you was off in Europe or som'eres—with your ma."

"I've been home some time."

"Um. . . I call your ma to mind. And your grandma for that matter. Yes, sir: born right in this here house,

"Nosh's Ark," Stupendous Produc-tion, is Undiluted Entertainment.

"Noah's Ark," a stupendous, spectacular production dealing, as one might infer, with the Deluge, opened Monday at the Howard theater for a week's run. The production might run for 40 days and 40 nights, if one run for 40 days and 40 nights, it one judges its pulling power by the enormous crowds that saw the opening. The house was filled to the topmost row of the gallery for the first show and all day long they kept coming.

Not in years has Hollywood sent out one of these productions involving such vast sets and armies of men and women and stunning effects. And "Nonh's Ark" is as eve-filling as any

"Nonh's Ark" is as eye-filling as any of the others. Some of the scenes in the Biblical sequences are as star-lingly realistic in conveying horror in intricate detail as the drawings in intricate detail as the drawings of Gustav Dore.

The picture is built in two parallel episodes—a modern love story of the World War, the "deluge of blood that destroyed a world of hate." and the Biblical "deluge of water that destroyed a world of lust."

Hollywood borrowed with charming recklessness, perhaps innocence, incidents from the lives of all the major prophets who lived long after Noah. But who knows but what bushes were burning and tablets of stone were being carved by lightning long before the time of Moses? A captious critic could pick many flaws of this character. But the fact remains that Dolores Costello and George O'Brien and others of a fine cast have given an earnest effort in putting over a dual war-flood melo-

One cannot criticize a Hungarian's picture of Hungarian rural life. He ought to know it best. But for rustics one might say the members of the cast have lovely hands. The story opens by unfolding a picture of rural life. The picture starts at 1:20, 4:20, 7:20 and 10 o'clock and the vaudeville at 3, 6 and 9 o'clock.

The Hague, August 19 .- (A)-An-

Discussion of the Young plan for German reparations is for the moment in the hands of experts of the creditor

Two things that are holding up the financial and political committees of the statesmen must be decided before the statesmen must be decided before further progress is possible. The jurists must decide whether the committee for control of armaments on the left bank of the Rhine, which the French asked for as a condition for evacuation, is legally justified by the treaties before dates can be fixed for complete liberation of the occupied German territory.

German territory.

The financial experts must decide The financial experts must decide what is the money value of the offer made by the four other leading creditor powers to Great Britain to satisfy her demand for a greater share in reparations before further effort can be made to come to an agreement on adoption of the Young plan.

Both of these committee of experts worked steadily today without any definite indication of when they will be finished. The financial experts thought they would have something to report tomorrow.

Otherwise there was nothing today but surmises and rumors to keep the conference before the public eye. It was rumored that Albert Pirelli was was rumored that hotel Frem was going to Italy to obtain authority to make concessions on the Italian share of unconditional annuities but as soon as he heard of it he cancelled his trip, which was for an entirely different

If after the experts have arrived at If after the experts have arrived at an estimate of what the allied offer is worth and Chancellor of the Exchequer Philip Snowden still rejects it, the general opinion is there will be nothing left for the delegates but to adjourn the conference. It has been suggested that the problem be resumed after the September assembly of the League of Nations but Mr. Snowden was understood to oppose this idea and to want a decision here and without delay.

KING AND QUEEN ABOARD YACHT IN COLLISION

Copenhagen, August 19.—(P)—The Danish royal yacht Danneborg with King Christian and Queen Louisa aboard was in collision with the Japanese steamer Matsumoto Maru today.

The yacht, which is lying in port here, was damaged slightly on the bowsprit, which was easily repaired. Their majesties remained on board and will sail tonight on a cruise. R. F. WELDON IS DEAD the stock market may have been re-flected by some Wall Street buying in cotton, but local brokers attributed the bulk of the demand to nervousness over the further progress of the crop in the southwest while some attention was also attracted by reports of in-creasing insect damage in the central Part of the day's buying was supposed to represent covering owing to uncertainty as to the showing of the end-August crop reports, which should begin to appear toward the end of next week.

Cable advices from Liverpool said the advance there was due to covering, continental and Bombay buying, and that hedging was light.

Exports today were 11.932 bales, making 110.302 so far this season. Port receipts, 16,188, U. S. port stocks, 528,447.

MARKET RISES.

New Orleans, La., August 19 .- (A) Decision of the federal farm board to lend farmers on this season's crop. to lend farmers on this season's crop-coupled with higher cables and con-tinued drought in the west, caused a sharp upturn in cotton prices today. At the highest reached, in late trad-ing, prices showed gains of nearly $2.50 a hale with December at 18.85, or 46 points net higher. The option closed at 18.83, with the general mar-ket steady at net advance; of 46 to 49 points.

The opening was steady at an advance of 7 to 8 points. Prices con tinued to advance after the start or huying promoted by higher Liverpool Moderate realizing and hedge Texas. Moderate realizing and hedge selling developed on the advance, but the offerings were absorbed at minor setbacks and. October at mid-session sold at 18.29. December 18.57 and January 18.86, or 18 to 21 points above Saturday's close. The volume of business increased during the afternoon trading due to heavy purchasing on the federal farm board's action which traders believed would lead which traders believed would lead to more deliberate marketing of the crop. The subsequent bulge carried October up to 18.60, December 18.85 and January 18.91, or 49 to 32 points

STERCHI PREDICTS STRONG PERIOD IN STORE SALES

Knoxville, Tenn., August 18 .-That the largest chain store companies in the United States have shown an increase of 20 per cent in year is the statement of J. G. Sterchi, president of Sterchi Bros. Stores, Inc., largest chain furniture organization in the south.

"The sales of our own 55 retail furniture stores have been most satisfactory so far during 1929, and if past experience may be taken as a guide, the final six months will account for at least 60 per cent of the annual sales volume. To those stockholders who have made interested inquiry, I have conservatively estimated that the increase in our company's sales for the coming six months will be in excess of $500,000 above the same period for 1928,"

This advertisement is subject to the more complete information contained in a letter from Mr.C.F. Stone, President of the Company, setting forth information regarding the Company and its Preference and Common Stocks. There may be obtained from the undersigned copies of this letter which Mr. Stone has summarized in part as follows:

"Blue Ridge Coporation, hereinafter called the 'Company,' has been formed under the laws of Delaware to buy, sell, trade in and hold stocks and securities of any kind, to participate in syndicates and underwritings and to exercise such other of its charter powers as its Board of Directors may from time to time determine. The Company has been organized at the instance of Shenandoah Corporation; the latter corporation is to purchase for long time investment 6,250,000 shares of Common Stock of the Company for $62,500,000 cash.

Shenandoah Corporation was organized in July, 1929, under the joint sponsorship of The Goldman Sachs Trading Corporation and Central States Electric Corporation. Each of these corporations then acquired and now holds for long time investment 2,000,000 shares of the common stock of Shenandoah Corporation. The Goldman Sachs Trading Corporation and Central States Electric Corporation are now purchasing for long time investment from Shenandoah Corporation for cash at par and accrued cash dividend 750,000 shares (par value $50 per share) of its Optional 6% Convertible Preference Stock, Series of 1929, and at $33 1-3 per share 750,000 shares of its common stock. The sale of these shares of preference and common stock, all of which will be of additional issue, will provide Shenandoah Corporation with the required $62,-500,000 cash.

The membership of the Board of Directors of the Company is identical with that of Shenandoah Corporation, namely, Harrison Williams, Clifford F. Stone, Waddill Catchings and Sidney J. Weinberg, and John Foster Dulles of counsel.

The Company will commence business with at least $127,500,000 of cash and/or common stocks, valued at or below the closing prices on August 17, 1929 on the New York Stock Exchange on which all such stocks are listed. The proceeds from the sale of the 1,000,000 shares of Preference Stock and 7,250,000 shares of Common Stock will be net to the Company, as all of the expenses in connection with its organization and the issue and distribution of these shares are to be borne by the bankers.

The Company has entered into a contract with Shenandoah Corporation which provides in substance that, so long as Shenandoah Corporation owns at least 6,250,000 shares of the Common Stock of the Company, then, in case the Company shall have issued during any year additional shares of its Common Stock, the Company will issue to Shenandoah Corporation warrants, exercisable at any time thereafter, for the purchase of not more than an equal number of additional shares of Common Stock. The price per share at which such warrants will entitle holders to purchase shares of Common Stock shall be the net asset value per share of the outstanding Common Stock of the Company at the close of such year, determined by valuing the Company's assets at cost or market, whichever is higher, but the price shall not be less than $20 per share, subject, in case of both the warrant price per share and the minimum price per share at which warrants may be issued, to adjustment in the event of split-ups, combinations, certain Common Stock dividends, rights to sub-

Except for this contract with Shenandoah Corporation, there are no options on any unissued stock or management contracts calling for compensation other than that to be paid to officers and employees in the regular course of business."

Preference Stock $51.50 Per Share and Accrued (Cash) Dividend Common Stock $20 Per Share

These shares are offered subject to allotment or prior sale and in all respects when, as and if issued and or delivered and accepted by us and subject to the approval of Messrs. Sullivan & Cromwell. We reserve the right to reject any and all subscriptions in whole or in part. It is expected that delivery of temporary stock certificates will be made on or about September 5, 1929, at the office of Goldman, Sachs & Co., 30 Pine Street, New York, N. Y., against payment therefor in New York funds.

High Lights in the Cotton Market

BY THEO. H. PRICE Editor Commerce and Finance, New York

A man with a sense of humor could make a calendar of the cotton year assured by the counsel given them.

Whether counsel alone will satisfy the counsel alo son used to commence on the first of Neptember and there are many who feel that the change to the first of August was an anachronism. It is not until the end of August that the probabilities of supply and demand can be even approximated and most of the so-called information made available before that time is misinformation.

available before that time is misinformation.

We are now less than a fortnight from what used to be New Year's Day in the cotton market and the dominant opinion in the trade is that the crop outlook is about as promising as it ever has been at this date.

Of course it is possible that some great calamity can overtake the cotton states or that an exceptionally early frost may check the growth of the plant prematurely. But barring these two contingencies the outlook would seem to be propitious and most students of the crop situation are commencing to accept the idea of an abundant yield. Therefore the relative steadiness of the market at or close the continuous and most students of the crop situation are commencing to accept the idea of an abundant yield. Therefore the relative steadiness of the market at or close the continuous and most stock up on any decline in the market that may follow the United States coveriment report due September 8.

Coming Into Own.

There is a feeling that the cotton grower is coming into his own and that the iniquitous bears have had their claws drawn for a time. If this about the usual autumnal dip in the price level, there will be much crying and gnashing of teeth.

But faith makes for stability, and confidence in the market that may follow the United States coming into his own and that the iniquitous bears have had their claws drawn for a time. If this own their claws drawn for a time life that the iniquitous bears have had their claws drawn for a time. The dry goods trade is holding up remarkably well when the uncertainties of the cotton market are considered. Retail distributors throughout the country appear to be willing to tack up a present a decline in the market are considered.

But faith makes for stability, and confidence in the value of cotton be-tween 16 and 18 cents a pound is so widespread that any acute depression seems unlikely even though the next government report should indicate a yield that is beyond present expecta-

Due to Arbitration.

It was in part due to the acceptance of arbitration to settle the Lancashire strike and the announcement that the mills would reopen August 19. Another cause is the deep seated belief that the federal farm board will find a way to support the cotton market morally or commercially, if a severe decline seems to impend.

The representatives of the cotton co-operative associations are said to have been in consultation with the farm board last week. No announcement of the conclusions arrived at has been made but it is understood that

This sounds like very much money to spend for a luxury of this kind, add another quarter of a billion dol-This sounds like very much money to spend for a luxury of this kind, but 125,000,000,000 cigarettes at about an average of one-half of a cent each and over six and a half billion cigars at about 8 cents soon runs into much money.

Tobacce farming is a very important industry in this country, giving work to thousands of people. The growers of tobacco, however, obtain little from it, as compared with the total cost to consumer for the finished product.

Recent reports give planted acreage as slightly in excess of 2,000,000 this year, an increase of nearly 6 percent over 1928. Production is expected to exceed that of last year by over S per cent and should amount to about 1,500,000,000 pounds. The total income to the tobacco farmers on this production will amount to approximately $300,000,000. Most tobacco farmers are relatively poor and their income from this business is small. Tobacco growing is a tedious job, requiring a great amount of labor and making it necessary to confine operations to a small acreage.

Stanley before the latter was wounded. Jean is charged with having 187 gallons of whisky in an automobile, Judge Dunlap said.

When Jean appeared before United States Commissioner E. S. Griffith Monday, the defendant told Judge Griffith that he was not guilty of the charges. The government requested that the hearing be put off until Saturday in order that the federal witnesses may be produced.

Stanley is recovering from a bullet wound in the abdomen and lungs, his physician said. Stanley has been in the hospital nearly three weeks.

Max Feldman, owner of a grocery at 59 Haynes street, was the hold-up to too tall negroes early Monday night. With red bandana hand-kerchiefs over their faces, the negroes were heaving and fired several shots at them. One of them appeared to be hit in the shoulder, but continued his flight, Feldman said.

Detectives J. C. Davis and H. W. Armstrong are investigating.

Lord Greystoke thought of the lengths to which Rokoff had once gone to ruin him. He knew that was as nothing compared to what the villian would attempt now that he was free. For himself he did not fear. Often he had thwarted Rokoff's designs upon his life. But now would not Rokoff strike at him through his wife and son? For in no other way could he inflict greater anguish.

Conveniently located at the corner of North Avenue and Boulevard and easily accessible to all parts of the city-the New Reeves Studio Building presents the entire second floor of its new established quarters to a firm or firms who are not absolutely dependent upon the crowded downtown section for their business success.

The eight large, light and airy offices on the second floor which are available for immediate occupancy and which will be arranged to suit the tenant may be secured for a mere fraction of the cost of the same amount of space downtown.

The Reeves Studio Building, 611 Boulevard, N. E.

This building was purchased by the Reeves Studio for the purpose of getting away from the noise, dirt and confusion of the city and therefore offering more satisactory and cleanly working surroundings. The firm who acts now upon this suggestion will save themselves a big sum on rent. Phone Reeves Studio, 93 1-2 Whitehall Street, WAlnut 7711 for further information.
